HARDING SEES VICTORY AHEAD

Ohio Senator Says Old Party Will Triumph in National Politics

NOT PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRANT

"The county is clamoring for the return of the Republican party to power," says Senator Warren Harding, of Ohio, on a visit to the county seat this week. "There is nothing can stop the success of the Grand Old Party and its policies, which promise to enjoy a wave of popularity such as never before was their's.

Of course the support accorded President Wilsons foreign policy has been general and deserved. He has been placed in a very trying position but has had the backing of all factions. However in his domestic policy many flaws have outcropped which call forth the instant disapproval of the majority of the people, and this will be evinced in no uncertain fashion next year. His economic theories have met with failure and his handling of the Mexican situation, especially at first proved weak The defeat of the Democratic party is the only way to solve the difficulties into which the nation has been thrown. Only one thing might retard the success of the Republicans and that is the declaration of war between the United States and a foreign power.

"Whom will Ohio support for president? Well, our presidential candidate will be Governor Willis, Senator Burton or Myron T. Herrick, ex-ambassador to France. I, myself, have no aspirations for the executive's chair."

$15,000 DAMAGE IS DONE BY GARAGE FIRE

Duff's Place at California Prey to Flames of Unknown Origin—Controller Underwood's Famous Yellow Car Harmed Some

Close to $15,000 damages was done by fire of unkonwn origin at the Duff garage at California this morning at about 8:30 o'clock. Fourteen automobiles stored in the garage were more or less damaged, and two or three of them were practically destroyed.

The blaze started near the front part of the garage, where was stored a large quantity of oils. The fire was difficult to control and the firemen were forced to work nearly an hour before they could accomplish much.

One of the cars stored in the garage at the time was that of County Controller T. J. Underwood it being the famous yellow car in which he and his daughter were planning to make a campaign for Mr. Underwood's election as sheriff.

GOOD PRIZE LIST FOR BELLE VERNON RACES

Total List Aggregates $1,500—Several More Drivers of Fast Cars Entered—List of Officials Chosen For Two-Day Event.

With a prize list aggregating $1,500, the two-day auto race meet to be held next Friday and Saturday, August 27-28 at the Belle Vernon track is attracting some of the best drivers in the east. A half dozen fast cars have been entered and as many more will be in before the entries close next Wednesday at midnight.

All the preliminary arrangements have been completed for the races including the selecting of officials. Men from Charleroi and surrounding towns have been secured who will see to it that all the events are conducted in accordance with the American Automobile Association rules.

The following have been named:

Judges—C. J. Mogan of Monessen; T. G. Brown of Belle Vernon; A. N. Shuster of Monessen.

Timers—D. R. Hormell of Charleroi; R. A. Johnson, of Bentleyville; Carl Miller of Donora.

Scorers—S. O. Fleming of Fayette City; W. H. Seibett, Donora; Dr. G. H. Murphy of Monessen.

Referee—Kerfoot Daly of Charleroi.

Starter—J. L. Gadwallader of Pittsburg.

The latest entrant in the two-day meet is C. W. Johnson of Uniontown with his Packard Greyhound. Johnson, who has just recently taken to half-mile dirt track racing, is a whirlwind on the oval. The Greyhound is the same car in which he defeated Ralph DePalma in the Uniontown Hill Climb this year. Since that time he has won a dozen or more races on short tracks and his coming to Belle Vernon is bound to furnish sensations to those who like to see spectacular driving. He is known to be one of the most daring as well as fearless racing pilots in the business. Coming with Johnson is Wilmer Monahan one of the youngest drivers in the country, who will handle the Greyhound in several of the races each day. Monahan has won races in Clarksburg, Altoona and Johnstown this season and expects to get a look at the prize money at Belle Vernon.

Thus far the only local car entered is A. D. Spencer's Buick Wildcat. Others, however, are expected to follow. All entries must be in before midnight Wednesday August 25. Application should be made to C. M. Hunter at the Wilbur Hotel this city. Mr. Hunter is also in charge of all the concessions at the track.

ASSESSORS INSTRUCTED BY THE COMMISSIONERS

Triennial Fixing of Valuations to be Done According to Definite Plan In County—Importance of Work is Emphasized.

The assessors of Washington county assembled in the public meeting room of the Washington county court house at 11 o'clock Friday and were instructed as to the coming triennial assessment of real estate and coal lands and in the performance of other duties incident to their offices, including the collection of dog taxes. The meeting was called by the county commissioners. County Commissioner Thomas Hill presided After calling the meeting to order, he spoke of the changes made by the last state legislature relative to the assessment and of the necessity that all assessors aim to make their valuations equitable.

Other commissioners, County Controller T. J. Underwood and Judge J. A. McIlvaine urged that the greatest care be taken in fixing valuations.

The annual outing of newspaper men men and others given by the Pittsburg Railways company will be an event of tomorrow, J. E. McKirdy advertising manager of the company having sent out the announcements this week. The party which will be recruited all along the Monongahela valley, Pittsburg and along the Washington line will be taken to James P. Murphy's famous stock farm at Meadowlands. This is a popular place with the newspaper men. A special car will leave Charleroi at 12.45 o'clock sharp, and newspaper men from Charleroi and nearby points will board it here.

THIS BIG YEAR IN ATHLETICS

High Schools in Monongahela Valley to Have Great Football Teams

GRIMM FACES DIFFICULTIES

This promises to be the banner year in Monongahela valley high school athletic affairs. Some of the strongest high school football as well as basketball teams ever organized in the valley it is expected will be produced.

A circuit of fours towns exist within a radius of nine miles. Each of these will have this year a good high school football team and some of the warmest gridiron battles ever fought may be anticipated. In the circuit are Monessen, Donora, Charleroi and Monongahela. Each team has prepared a good schedule and some of the best Pittsburg and outside teams are among those which will play in the valley. Athletic relations are strained between Monongahela, high school football champions of Washington county and Charleroi high school basketball champions, so they will hardly meet this fall.

Coach S. R. Grimm who developed a wonderful fighting machine for Charleroi last year and the year previously will have to practically rebuild his team. C. Lowstuter, Piersol, Hickey, Brown, Ryland, Richey and possibly Delvaux are the only members of last fall's eleven eligible to play this fall. Some of the best players on the team were lost by graduation.

At Monongahela Coach Howard Crane will face difficulties in making up his backfield and a part of his line from raw material. Jack Albright will be in his old place at half back. Other available men will be Guskey, Badenschneider, Anderson, Moyer, Vanderslice, Steele, Allen, Fields, Murray, Cooper, Stephens, Ted and Harold Simpson, Simmons and Taylor.

Monessen and Donora are just whipping teams in shape. N. E. Townsend, late of Allegheny college will coach at Monessen. Ashley Martin a W. & J. man is coaching the Donora team. Both Monessen and Donora this year will have teams to be feared.

Fallowfield Farmers Have Record Breaking Crops In Some Respects

HAY SHORTAGE DUE TO PESTS

Insects and Worms Are Eating up Hay—Better Crops Likely Only With Better Protection of Wild Life—Association to be Formed.

Splendid oats and wheat crops are reported in Followfield and adjoining townships, with the best prospects of a wonderful corn crop. Potatoes are developing well, but there is a shortage in the hay crop.

Records are being made in the productions of crops this year in Fallowfield and other townships. On the J. E. Van Voorhis farm on the Monongahela road 1,155 bushels of oats were produced on about a 20-acre tract, by Coulter and Dennick, the farmers. This is an average of slightly more than 57 bushels to an acre, an unusual yield. A good average crop of oats is 30 or 40 bushels to the acre.

No figures have been obtained as the wheats' crop nor the potatoe yield, but both are said to be particularly strong, while one of the best crops of corn in years is generally anticipated.

The shortage of the hay crop is due to two things, one the presence of insects and worms and the other last fall's drouth. Year by year the farmers are suffering more from the onslaught of insects and worms, and the cause of this is the wholesale slaughter of worm-eating birds and animals which takes place every fall. It follows that the slaughter of birds and animals, states one farmer, will bring on poor and short crops. He pleads for better protection of wild life, particularly of the nature of quail, which are rapidly becoming extinct.

Farmers of Fallowfield are considering the formation of a protective association to protect their lands from the encroachments of hunters and others who damage property or destroy game. In line with this idea, a meeting is being called for Saturday evening, August 28, at Curtin schoolhouse.

LOOKING AHEAD TO 1916

That this will be a year of preparation and that next year will see the development of some national issues and a hot political battle between the reunited Republican party and the Democratic party is the belief of the Washington Observer, a former Progressive party publication which pleads for harmony this year in the Republican ranks. The Observer says:

While only a few states elect governors and other state officers this year, there will be important local elections in every state and in every voting precinct. The non-partisan idea for the election of local officials has not been so widespread as to take away the political effect the results of these elections will have from a strictly party point of view.

Neither will the increase in the Independent vote throughout the country cut as great a figure this year as it has for several years past, except here and there where special issues are at stake as affecting local conditions.

The results all over the country, local and state will be construed by the politicians and party leaders as a barometer of the political feeling throughout the country.

Here and there as in the Twenty-Fourth congressional district of this state, where a vacancy is to be supplied, national issues will come in and the results in these spots, from a strictly national standpoint, will be watched with interest in every section of the nation.

This will be the year of preparation for the presidential contest in 1916.

Senator Penrose of this state says that the tariff issue will be the important one. So it will if there are no international issues at stake. And at this time no one can forecast the future.

As we have said before the condition of affairs in this country will push to the rear some of the issues which confronted the people in 1912 dealing with social and industrial justice. But public sentiment in favor of these reforms will not be any the less strong but will increase. No party can afford to ignore them and they will in time be written into the statute books of the states and of the nation, as a part of the program of some political party and we believe it will be in the Republican party, which, if united, will elect the next president and a majority of the members of congress in 1916 and secure control of the senate in 1918.

This year is not any too early to begin the campaign for 1916. The primaries for the nomination of candidates for congress and the election of national delegates will come in May next year, within six months after the fall election of 1915.

Whatever advantage can be gained from the elections this year by either of the two great political parties ought to be seized upon and made use of as capital for next year's campaign. This year above all others the leaders of the Republican party should work for a reunited party and for harmony, and also for the nomination of the best qualified men for local officers everywhere. The confidence of the people in an organization and in the men named for office are quite as essential as a confidence in the principles of that party.

NATURE ON THE RAMPAGE

Man has achieved much since he emerged from his original cave. He has obtained control of nature in many ways so that his dominion is now a wide-extended one. When we contrast his present knowledge and power as compared with the eagerness and feebleness of the original man, we are disposed to feel a certain pride in his wonderful achievements, says the Altoona Tribune.

But a little reflection or personal experience during the prevalence of such a storm as that which flooded Houston and assaulted Galveston, soon shows the most arragant how feeble is the power of man as contrasted with the irresistible forces of nature when they are really unchained. We are but as the leaf floating upon the air, the chip born onward by the current.

Candidates for county, borough, and precinct offices should bear in mind the fact that August 31 is the last day for the filing of petitions for nominations in the various parties. These petitions properly made out and signed by the required number of electors of the party must be filed with the county commissioners, says the Washington Observer. Each candidate should exercise care in the preparation of his petition and be sure that it is correct, but better still have it filed several days in advance of the 31st, so that if any changes are necessary they can be pointed out by the commissioners. The law governing our primary elections makes it easy for voters to become candidates and no party organization can limit the number.

Of course the sure way for Americans to escape danger from German submarines is to stay at home. But there are good and sufficient reasons for Americans to venture on the high seas, and they must be protected. The right war gives Germany to destroy English and French vessels is not license to destroy American lives or property. American rights must be respected by every nation at war.

Because a few stockingles bathing girls from out-of-town disported themselves at the Charleroi bathing beach considerable notriety has been given. It is enough to state that stockingless bathing at the Charleroi beach is not unlawful, and if any girl thinks it is perfectly ladylike, then it is for her to enjoy.

A fund to avenge the murder of Leo M. Frank has been started in Pittsburg. That is a most unnecessary and an entirely wrong proceeding. Citizens pay their taxes to see that justice is done; and it is up to them to see that their money is properly spent.

The Monessen Independent is authority for the statement that a lot of better filtration plants than that of the water company here can be found in "kitchens about town." Monessen people are entitled to whatever opinions they may hold, especially if they have thoroughly inspected water filtration systems. Of course all confident assertions like this are made only after searching investigation.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A railroad president spoke at a dinner in Boston on railway safety.

"Why, the day may come," he declared, "when all roads will be as safe as the Great Kentucky Central.

"A passenger on that railroad said to the conductor:

"'Do you see the block system on this line?'

"'No: we ain't got no use for the block system, stranger.'

"'Oh, I suppose, then, you use electric or pneumatic signaling?'

"'No: no use for them, nuther.'

"'Then you have train dispatchers and run your trains by telegraph?'

"'Nope.'

"'But when you stop between stations, you at least go back a hundred yards and flag the rear?'

"'Nope, stranger; nope.'

"'Then,' said the passenger, angrily, 'all I've to say is that this road is run in a criminally reckless manner.'

"The conductor frowned, took out a plug of tobacco and snapped off a chew viciously.

"'Stranger,' he said, 'if you don't like this line, say so, and I'll stop the train and you can git off and walk. I'm the president of the line and the sole owner. This is the Great Kentucky Central and stranger, don't you forget it. She's seven mile and a half long. She runs from Paint Rock to Nola Chucky. This is the only train that travels on the Great Kentucky Central and what you hear a-ortin' ahead is our only engine. We ain't never had a collision. We ain't never had an accident. What's more, we never will. Now, are you satisfied, stranger or will I pull the string and let you git out and walk.'"
—Washington Star.

Some passengers were standing on a station platform when they heard a noise like the smashing of things. On looking around they saw a baggagemaster throwing trunks from a car with large strenuousness. Suddenly the chief baggage party rushed from the depot with some speed.

"Look here," he loudly exclaimed addressing the man in the car to the great astonishment of the pasengers. "why in the deuce don't you be careful how you unload those trunks?"

"What's the matter with you!" was the grouchy rejoinder of the man in the car. "I've got to get 'em out o' here, hain't I"

"Yes," answered the head baggage party, pointing downward, "but can't you see that you are making dents in the concrete platform?"

A Hearty Meal.

"When I was a little girl," says a friend of the Companion, "I had the honor of being introduced to Mark Twain. It was just before Thanksgiving, and I very proudly told him that I was going to spend the holiday with my aunt in New York.

"'Really,' he drawled, with the most flattering show of interest. 'Well, I hope you will feel, after dinner, just as I did when I went there to a banquet a few months ago.'

"Of course I instantly demanded to know, 'How was that?'

"'Very thankful,' answered Mr. Clemens, with preternatural solemnity. 'Very, very thankful because I still had one article of apparel that wasn't too tight a fit for comfort.'

"'Oh, I know,' I guessed eagerly; 'your shoes!' But the humorist shook his head.

Teacher Should Have Known.

The naughty boy of the class came into school half an hour late. He apologized to the lady teacher and, pulling an orange from his pocket, gracefully proffered it as a propitiatory gift.

Just a trifle to his surprise it was promptly accepted and put into the teacher's desk. When dinner time arrived the young man showed reluctance to depart.

The teacher, with covert amusement, watched him as he awkwardly hung about, and finally inquired: "Well, Tommy, why don't you go?"

"Want me orange," he muttered. "Your orange? Why, you gave it to me. You said you had brought it for me," expostulated the teacher. "Yes," admitted the youngster, aggrieved, "but yer knowed I was only kiddin'."

What Neighbors Think

Charleroi police officials made a great how-de-do about street corner loafers and bank step loungers a few weeks ago and some arrests were made just to show that they were in earnest. Recent observations shows that the practice has been resumed by the loungers and loafers and they are not being molested.—Monssen News.

Doan's are praised in thirty thousand signed statements, published in 30000 communities. Charleroi people are no exception. Here's a Charleroi statement.

Mrs. W. L. Evans, 104 Lookout avenue, Charleroi, says: "One of the family works among turpentine and oil and that affected his kidneys. He complained of a heavy, dull ache across his back and was annoyed by irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Several years ago he tried Doan's Kidney Pills, which he got at Piper Bros.' Drug Store, and they proved to be the very medicine he needed. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as I know they are a good household medicine."

PEOPLE TAKING TO WALKING

Most Healthful Form of Exercise Has Become a Popular Fad Among All Classes.

Walking has taken a hold on popular fancy as a sport, pastime, recreation and form of exercise. Walking has been urged upon the people by men and women interested in public health, by physical culture enthusiasts, by nature students and by the press Every person converted to walking has become a missionary, and unusually with all the spirit of a convert. The walking habit, which is being contracted by an increasing number of persons yearly, is a relatively new habit.

In those days usually referred to glowingly and somewhat indefinitely as the "good old times," walking was not practiced as a pleasure, but only as a necessity, and as a necessity it was avoided wherever possible. The average person did not move around much unless with the aid of a horse or a horse and trap. There was not much going to and fro on foot. Walking was apt to be considered as a sign of poverty or as evidence of dementia. On the other side of this question it may be said that in the olden time more men got their exercise in the open by their daily work than now.

Cities were small, and men were generally not called on to walk long distances. The cab or the omnibus came into operation on the city thoroughfare, then the horse car, the cable and the electric car. Now the automobile is here. The ratio of indoor to outdoor workers increased and the means and opportunities for moving from place to place without much physical exertion multiplied.

TEETH AND THE DIGESTION

Importance of Proper Mastication of Food Is Seldom Given Proper Consideration.

From the time food enters the mouth and is masticated until its waste has left the body the function of digestion goes forward through its various stages.

Mastication, accomplished in the mouth, is no doubt the most important stage of this function.

Defective teeth are a threat to health by reason of impairment of mastication, and consequently of digestion.

While the vigorous stomach may attack particles of food of considerable size and resistance, the process of digestion is naturally slowed up in proportion to the magnitude and firmness of the unground particles.

In addition to this, the admixture of healthy saliva to the food during the process of mastication is of no little consequence, especially in the digestion of starch.

Thus defective teeth not only injure by reason of imperfect mastication, but likewise by reason of a failure to properly incorporate the saliva with the finely divided particles of the food while it is still in the mouth.

It's an old saying, but a wise one, that "people dig their graves with their teeth." Take care of your teeth and save your health and lengthen your life.

Deep Snow in Scotland.

Snow fell last winter to a depth of over three feet in the upland districts of Athol and Strathtay, and on several sheep-grazing holdings it was impossible to gather the sheep herds. In one case a shepherd's dog successfully located a sheep which got enveloped in a large wreath. The dog scraped away the snow, disclosing the presence of the sheep, which was none the worse for its confinement. For some time hand feeding of hill herds and high-lying grazing stocks had to be resorted to. While hay is fairly plentiful this season the stock of roots available is somewhat small.

Birds, Cats and Dogs in War.

Bird and animal lovers have made an investigation of the effect upon both domestic and wild creatures of gunfire, especially heavy cannonading, says the Cologne correspondent of the Associated Press. They find that for two and sometimes three days the birds are terribly excited and fly back and forth in bewilderment, and that cats and dogs hide in the darkest places they can find. At the end of that time, however, their excitement subsides and they become absolutely impervious to the noise.

Draftless Huts.

A new type of hut for soldiers which, it is claimed, will allow of a saving of at least 25 per cent on present expenditure, was exhibited recently at the College of Ambulance, London.

The hut is pyramidical in shape and designed to secure a maximum of fresh air with an absence of drafts no matter what the direction of the wind.

Seventeen huts of this type, known as the Pritchard principle, will accommodate, its inventors claim, a battalion in greater comfort than they are now securing in 34 huts.

Complete Understanding.

"I understand that you are a great peace advocate, Mr. Dolan?"

"I am that," answered Mr. Rafferty.

"An' might I inquire what you're going to do to preserve peace?"

"I don't have to do anything. Man an' boy I've met about everybody that thinks he's a fighter in this neighborhood. There's none of 'em that won't admit I'm the best man, so what's there to quarrel about?"
